

INTENSIVE SUMMER

LATIN PROGRAM

ONLINE (ASYNCHRONOUS & SYNCHRONOUS)

Department of Classics, Rutgers University

May 30 - July 21, 2023

Rutgers Classics announces the third year of the intensive Latin summer program, which aims to give students with no prior experience in the language a significant foundation in Latin. Our eight-week intensive course will cover the entire first year of Latin in the first five weeks after which students will read texts by Catullus and Cicero during the remaining three weeks. Students will acquire a comprehensive knowledge of Latin morphology and syntax using Moreland and Fleischer's Latin: An Intensive Course and, on completing the program, will be prepared to enter an upper-level Latin course.

This fully online program will combine asynchronous and two-hour synchronous sessions (on Monday/Wednesday/Friday). Students are expected to devote several hours every day to homework assignments and class preparation and will have round-the-clock access to instructors.

Tuition: Eight credits for $2,683 (in-state) | $6,190 (out-of-state) ~ All students accepted into the program will receive a scholarship that covers 20% of standard tuition rates. Additional scholarships available for students from groups historically underrepresented in the discipline of Classics. Students, undergraduates, graduate students, and adults simply seeking to learn a new and exciting language are welcome to take the course.

Contact Dr. Kristina Chew, Department of Classics, with questions, kjc104@classics.rutgers.edu.

- Dr. Chew is a highly experienced teacher of online courses in Latin, ancient Greek, and Classics.
- Additional instruction will be provided by graduate students in Rutgers' doctoral program.

For more information about Summer Sessions at Rutgers University, visit <http://summersession.rutgers.edu/>

To learn about the Department of Classics at Rutgers, go to: <http://classics.rutgers.edu>